

THE FIRST

48

48

For homicide detectives, the first 48 hours is decisive. Once that time has elapsed without a lead, the odds of solving a case are cut in half. Each passing hour means more time for suspects to flee and for crucial evidence to be lost.

The First 48 is a gritty, fast-paced race against the clock as detectives and homicide teams work furiously to solve breaking cases.

